🎧 And speak with our correspondent, Shima Khalil, Shima was the key thing to understand about these results.

请听记者希玛·哈利勒分析选举关键点。

🎧 I think that the key takeaway really is that the electric continues to punish the LDP and its ruling coalition in the ballot box.

关键在于选民继续通过选票惩罚自民党及其执政联盟。

🎧 The fact that the ruling coalition hasn't been able to gain favor or regain trust of the electorate.

执政联盟未能重获选民信任。

 00:08:21

🎧 Remember that they have punished them in the ballot boxes in October when they've lost majority in the lower house, the powerful lower house, and we're seeing this trend again happen with the upper house.

去年10月众议院失利后，参议院再现此趋势。

🎧 And now you're looking at a coalition that has lost control of both chambers of parliament, which is a very rare occurrence for the LDP and postwar, Japan, because they essentially dominated politics for decades.

自民党战后首度失去两院控制权，此前数十年主导政坛。

🎧 The other key thing is that the right-wing party, San Seito, which until very recently was seen as a fringe party, very young party that was formed in 2020, has made significant gains from two seats that have gone into 14, which tells you that they're eating into the conservative base of the LDP.

右翼政党“参政党”从2席增至14席，侵蚀自民党保守基本盘。

 00:09:06

🎧 So all in all, I think it's a humbling, it's been a humbling night for the incumbent.

▶ It was very obvious when the polls closed that they were having a really bad night, even the Prime Minister himself speaking to local channels was saying that he solemnly accepts this harsh result.

投票结束时显然形势不利，首相本人向地方台表示严肃接受结果。

▶ But I think there is a realization that even though this is a blow to the Prime Minister that he's been further weakened, his situation in parliament has been further weakened legislation becomes ever more complicated that there needs to be governmental stability, that there's so much that needs to get done.

但各方意识到，尽管首相权力削弱、立法更复杂，仍需政府稳定以推进待办事项。

 00:10:06

 00:10:38

▶ Well without a majority, neither the lower of the upper house.

▶ I mean, what happens next?

接下来会如何？

▶ It certainly complicates anything that they want to do either domestically or internationally with regards to these trade talks.

确实。

▶ Look, the LDP are still the most experienced when it comes to diplomatic relations because they've been doing it for decades.

 00:10:57

▶ And so I think the look at that as a strength, they'll try to unite, if you will, from inside their trenches to be able to make a, to appear to be united or make a united front with the United States to continue those talks, because they have been very difficult talks.

他们将试图团结内部，与美国展现统一战线以继续艰难谈判。

▶ Remember that Japan's top negotiator has been to the United States seven times now with very little to show for it.

谈判战线仍需推进。

 00:11:23
